Key knowledge

Passwords and privacy
Passwords keep your personal information safe. Passwords should be something you have thought of yourself that you will remember. A word and some numbers are best because this is hard for someone else to figure out. You should not tell anyone else your password, except your parents. This is so that no one else can see your files or information or pretend to be you.

Personal information
Information about you, including

- names
- address
- birthday
- photo
- school

You should keep your own and other people's personal information private,

Internet browsers

chrome

explorer

safari

Type the website you need in the address bar in your browser. Be careful to type all the words and symbols correctly.

Vocabulary

password – a secret word you need to get into somewhere personal information – information about you privacy – keeping your personal information to yourself private / confidential – something that you shouldn't tell other people. A password is confidential.

search engine – used to search the world wide web internet browser – a program on a computer which lets us go onto the internet
